Returning The Tradition

The Rangers' "return to tradition" continued last July, with the naming of Craig Patrick as the team's director of operations. David A. (Sonny) Werblin, president and chief executive officer of Madison Square Garden Corporation (right) did the introductory honors. Patrick and Fred Shero, the club's general manager-coach, later faced the microphones. The latest in a long line of Patricks to guide the fortunes of the Rangers, Patrick is the grand-son of the legendary Lester Patrick, who built the original Rangers starting in 1926.

JOE MURPHY

Trainers are unsung heroes of a sort. They do their work behind the scenes, and rarely receive any acclaim. It's important work, however, and very integral to the running of a successful club. Jerry Maloney is the team's head trainer this season. Nick Garen worked for the Chicago Black Hawks for over 20 years before joining the Rangers. Joe Murphy joined the Rangers prior to the current season.

The New York off-ice officials, as appointed by the National Hockey League, have long been praised by players and referees alike as one of the most talented and dedicated crews in the NHL.

A Brief History Of The New York Rangers

The Rangers' Official Emblem

By JOHN HALLIGAN

One of the proudest and most historic franchises in the National Hockey League. That's the New York Rangers, who are embarking on their 55th season of National Hockey League play in 1980-81.

In the last two seasons, the Rangers have been able to recapture much of the glamor and glitter that marked their early years, a trend which clearly will continue this season.

Back in the 1920s and 1930s, the Rangers were known as "the classiest team in hockey," and the description was certainly an accurate one. In fact, few sporting teams have come into existence with such a wave of success.

Under the astute managership and coaching of Lester Patrick, hockey's famed "Silver Fox," the Rangers were nearly unbeatable in those early years.

Actually, the birth of the Rangers was something of a team effort that involved Patrick, Madison Square Garden fight promoter Tex Rickard and Conn Smythe, then a successful hockey man in Toronto.

Rickard had become fascinated with hockey, and was convinced the game would be enthusiastically supported in the Garden, the world's premier sports arena that had opened its doors just a year earlier.

The team was jocularly called "Tex's Rangers," and the latter part of the name stuck.

Soon after the puck got rolling in New York, Smythe resigned, and was quickly replaced by Patrick, the widely known hockey promoter and innovator who came to New York from the defunct Pacific Coast Hockey Association.

Patrick, whose grandson, Craig Patrick, is director of operations for the current Rangers, worked his magic from the very start. The Rangers were an instant smash, both on the ice and at the box office, as New Yorkers immediately took to hockey. Ranger games were the place to be in those days, and the club attracted a formal, "dinner-jacket" crowd to the games, which began at 8:45 P.M. The fans were headed by no less a personage than the Mayor of New York himself, the Honorable Jimmy Walker.

In their first 16 seasons, the Rangers missed the playoffs only once, and only twice did they fall lower than third place. New York won three regular-season championships in that span, finished second five times and third on six other occasions. They also won three Stanley Cups.

In short, the Rangers built an empire, and New Yorkers loved every minute of it.

The Original Rangers were led by the Cook brothers, Bill and Bun, and Frank Boucher, who won the Lady Byng Trophy so many times the league finally gave it to him permanently. Among the "originals" Bill Cook, Boucher, and colorful defenseman Ching Johnson all made it to the Hockey Hall of Fame.

As the "originals" started to fade out, they were replaced by another stellar group of Ranger stars. Boucher was now coaching the club, while Lester Patrick concentrated on the managerial chores.

Once again, New Yorkers had a brother combination to cheer for. This time it was Neil and Mac Colville, and Alex Shibicky was their linemate. High-scoring Bryan Hextall, fiery Phil Watson, the Patrick brothers, Lynn and Muzz, goalie Dave Kerr, and defensemen Babe Pratt and Art Coulter were all stalwarts of that era.

World War II broke up the gang of Ranger All-Stars, but despite the fall in the team's fortunes after the war, there were still many individual stars on Broadway. Chuck Rayner, Buddy O'Connor, Edgar Laprade, Hy Buller, and Bones Raleigh were standouts in the late Forties and early Fifties. And, for much of that time, a defenseman named Fred Shero also toiled for the Ranger organization.

The arrival of Andy Bathgate in New York signalled another era in Ranger history. Bathgate, twice a first team All-Star, and then the holder of most Ranger scoring records, was the Rangers' superstar for almost a decade. Little Camille Henry, goalie Gump Worsley, Harry Howell, and Dean Prentice were other fans' favorites.

Some 10 years later, another star right wing heralded the Rangers' newest era. Rod Gilbert eventually eclipsed all of Bathgate's scoring records with the club, and played a decade and a half of stellar hockey in New York.

Other stars of that era included Gilbert's linemates, Jean Ratelle and Vic Hadfield, goalie Ed Giacomin, defenseman Brad Park, and center Walt Tkaczuk.

The arrival of Fred Shero, as general manager-coach in June of 1978, and Craig Patrick, in July of 1980, marks the start of the Rangers' latest era, and what a start it has been. The club marched dramatically to the Stanley Cup finals in 1979, and made tremendous strides in all areas.

A return to tradition, plus the addition of new stars such as Anders Hedberg, Ulf Nilsson, Barry Beck, John Davidson, Ron

A familiar fixture to Garden fans, the "dean" of the Rangers enters his 13th season . . . Steadily advancing towards many club records due to tremendous longevity . . . His 51 points in 93 games of Stanley Cup play are second most in Ranger history . . . Surpassed the 900 games played mark last season and his total of 902 ranks third on that all-time Ranger list . . . With 650 career points, he maintains a firm hold on fourth place in all-time Ranger scoring . . . Softspoken and a leader by example . . . Has played in more than 75 games in nine of his 12 seasons, while seeing action in less than 70 games only once, due to a broken leg in 1974-75 . . . Also known around the league as an outstanding penalty-killer and faceoff man . . . Shares Ranger record with Rod Gilbert for most assists in one game—five against Pittsburgh on Feb. 12, 1972 . . . Gained shares of two other Ranger marks last year by appearing in the Stanley Cup Playoffs for the 10th time, and notching 20 or more assists for the 12th time . . . First

RANGER CLOSEUPS

The emotions of a hockey player are often lost in the frenetic pace of the game itself. Photographers John Tremmel, Bruce Bennett, Ray Amati, and Jerry Liebman concentrated on facial expressions to capture some of hockey's emotional aspect in this two-page pictorial essay.

Story of the First Ranger Game

THE NEW YORK TIMES, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1926.

Rangers Capture Hockey Opener

ANGER SIX WINS DEBUT IN GARDEN

3,000 See Benefit Game Open Season Here as New Team Beats Maroons, 1-0.

GAME IS FIERCELY FOUGHT

Cook Brothers Shine, Bill Scoring Lone Tally—Penalties Set a Record.

By SEABURY LAWRENCE.

In a fast and savagely played hockey game the New York Rangers took up their stand last night and defeated the fast traveling Montreal Maroons by the airtight score of 1-0 on the ice in Madison Square Garden before a big crowd of over 13,000 spectators.

The game was for the benefit of the Grosvenor Neighborhood House, but the players displayed no charity toward each other.

There was rough checking and heavy stickwork all through the game, but the main bout was reserved for the final period, when Boucher, the Rangers' speedy centre, and Bill Phillips, right wing of the Maroons, staged a wild battle on the ice and received major penalties of five minutes, to say nothing of a $15 fine each. Boucher was badly cut on the neck by the butt of Phillips's stick during the mêlée and had to leave the game permanently.

It was the opening game of the season and bristled with fast plays and penalties, the latter numbering 18, breaking the American indoor record of 17 hung up last St. Patrick's Day, when the same Maroons and the Americans battled it out.

On their first appearance the Rangers made a distinctly favorable impression. Bunny and Bill Cook, playing the wings, and Boucher at centre, distinguishing themselves by particularly skillful stick work and clever skating. Cook, a slim, youthful player, displayed some of the most brilliant hockey of the evening and seems to be a player of parts. It fell to Bill, however, to score the only goal of the game, but the pass came from Bunny, which kept it all in the family.

Cheers Greet Players.

The teams got quite a big hand as they paraded out over the ice, accompanied by their respective bands. Strangely enough, the burly Maroons drew more applause during these ceremonies than the new home players. Possibly the crowd remembered that battle of last St. Patrick's Day. The Rangers came on the ice wearing uniforms nothing like so flaring as the star-spangled Americans. The color scheme was a dark blue, with red and white stripes.

After Miss Lois Moran, moving picture star, had presented a brand-new hockey stick to Captain Bill Cook of the Rangers and then faced the puck, hostilities started. Captain Cook grabbed the puck after the face-off for a short run, but was easily blocked by Siebert. Johnson frisked through and tried a long shot, which was easily blocked by Benedict.

Johnson and Nelson Stewart were then both sent off for roughing. A brilliant individual charge by Munro failed by inches. Abel made a nice run, but Bun Cook missed the pass. Boyd was put at right wing for Bill Cook and Abel was sent off for roughing. After a heavy combination drive by Boucher and Bill Cook, the latter missed by inches. The great Benedict successfully withstood a fierce fusillade of the close-up variety.

In a mix-up between Stewart and Ching Johnson the New York player was hooked over the eye by Stewart's stick and was replaced by Murdock. Toward the end of the period the crowd was aroused by a great three-man attack by the Rangers, but they could not get by Benedict and the session ended scoreless.

Fast Attack Fails.

Following the first period a colorful ice ballet, personally conducted by Miss Katy Schmidt diverted the big crowd.

As the players came out Johnson appeared on the ice with a plaster over his left eye. The New York defense man had been badly cut by Stewart's stick and it was necessary to take five stitches in the injury.

Broadbent signalized the opening of the second period by being sent off for cross-checking. Boucher and the Cooks staged a beautiful three-man attack, but Benedict foiled Bun Cook's shot. Bun Cook gave a gorgeous exhibition of stick handling when he took the disk down all alone, but again Benedict flicked it off. Munro's sparkling effort, the whole length of the ice, was barely blocked by Winkler.

A savage attack by Phillips and Stewart missed by inches from in front of the net, and then Lou Marsh, the referee, who operates this season with a dinner bell instead of a whistle, drew a laugh by crashing to the ice together with Rocco. Siebert's vicious drive was well stopped by Winkler. Ching Johnson was playing hard despite his injury and drove down the ice twice on fine plays, but could not crash through.

Bill and Bunny Cook then staged a great brother act, and after a brilliant sally down the ice Bill scored the first goal of the game in 18:37. Bunny passed from the left of the net out to Bill, who had practically an open net as Benedict had fallen when he blocked the preceding shot. The crowd roared as Cook put in the shot, but Benedict was hurt by striking the goal post and had to leave the ice for repairs. The great goalie came back and the period ended without further scoring.

Tally Is Not Allowed.

Beginning the final period, Stewart's long shot was whisked off by Winkler. In a savage drive by Johnson and Boucher, Johnson made a football lunge at Benedict, knocking the goal tender down in the net, but was not penalized. After a wonderful piece of stick work that electrified the crowd, Boucher drew Benedict away and shot the disk in, but the play was not allowed, the referee deciding it was offside.

The line-up:

Follow The Rangers on Radio, TV

For the 1980-81 season, New York Rangers fans will be able to watch or listen to all 80 regular-season games, primarily on WOR-TV (Channel 9) or WNEW Radio (1130-AM). The WOR-TV schedule covers some 29 Ranger road games. In addition, all home games will be carried on the Madison Square Garden Cable Network; USA Network.

All 40 home games, plus 11 road contests, are scheduled for radio. Two road games against the New York Islanders (Nov. 22 and Apr. 2) can be heard over WMCA Radio (570-AM).

Jim Gordon handles the play-by-play call on television, with Bill (The Big Whistle) Chadwick doing the color commentary. Marv Albert is the radio play-by-play voice of the Rangers, while Sal Messina handles the analyst's chores.
